2. UPDATE ON ADAPATION PROJECT

Mark Starford and Debbie Beeter gave a report on the Adaptation Project workshop that was held on June 25, 2005, at Alta California Regional Center. The purpose of the workshop was to field test the draft adapted materials by attendees from Northern and Central California People First and other self-advocacy groups. Debbie Beeter reported on the workshop. It was well received and beneficial for the attendees and the CAC received valuable input. There will be another workshop/field test of the material in Southern California on October 1, 2005.

Mark Starford presented the adaptation materials to the CAC for further review. The committee discussed the importance of having materials in plain language and graphics instead of difficult words to use for agendas, board minutes, and general publications. They discussed some of the ways to make materials easier to understand such as: using large font size, colors that stand out and do not blend together, having the right size of pictures and graphics, keeping graphics and pictures simple, having fewer words on a page, and using a combination of media because people process information in different ways.

The Committee then reviewed pictures and icons sizes and shapes and made suggestions for the types to use in the project.

3. COMMUNITY ASSIGNMENTS ADAPATION PROJECT

Donald Roberts shared his experience in presenting the Committee's new Choices booklet. Mark Starford and Sherry Beamer led the members through the process of filling out booklet themselves, so they could better train others in how to use it. Each member has the assignment to make a presentation of the new Choices booklet to a self-advocacy group in their community area.

4. CAC MEMBER REPORTS

The following Committee members gave their reports: Kim Rucker, Tina Ewing-Wilson, Tommy Michaels, and Debbie Beeter. (See the attached community reports for the updates from these members).

5. STATE BUDGET HIGHLIGHTS

She presented budget highlights including: the planned closure of Agnews Developmental Center; the Medicare Part D Prescription Drug Benefit (which will impact approximately 40,000 consumers); the new Self-Directed Services program; and a state management system that is consistent with the Quality Framework outlined by the federal Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services.

6. SCDD PRESENTATION

Alan Kerzin, the Executive Director of the State Council on Developmental Disabilities (SCDD), gave a presentation on the State Plan. Alan asked the Committee what they would like to see California do for consumers. SCDD is actively seeking input from self-advocacy groups to identify the big issues facing consumers in California. He said that SCDD would like information on any issues consumers may face with: jobs, transportation, recreation, or housing. The Committee requested further information on this subject from SCDD and asked Alan to return.

The Committee discussed formatting options for the Adaptation Project. The Committee proposed a name change for the project from "How-to-Guide for Making Material Easy to Understand", to "Adaptation Guide". It was moved (Nyron Battles), seconded (Daniel Dawkins), and carried to approve the name change for the project.
